

What electric Car? - ECC C1 Ev'ie

ECC C1 Ev'ie

One of the main attractions of this car is that it's based on a standard production car, so it has an impressive interior (the best in the electric vehicles we tested apart from the Tesla) and all of the components are covered by a three-year warranty.

It's also nippy enough around town – although that's as far as we'd recommend taking it because of its limited acceleration and 60-mile range. Still, it's one of the best-value electric cars and its six-hour charge time is impressive.
